

WALT WHITMAN

JASPER HAZE

came to me in a dream and said, Friend,
remember, the world is yours: an oak tree will undress in your mouth, if you ask of it, then wrapped his lush beard around me
like a fine fox-stole.