

FLORIDA MAN

CHRIS BULLARD

Florida Man gets high on bath salts and propane; sets hair on fire because why not; pulls gun when no parasol in mai tai.

Florida man dances through sobriety test; keeps secret alligator; sings karaoke duet with coral snake.

Florida man tries to sell drugs to druggist; tries to buy car with cocaine; tries to fence church artifacts to priest.

Florida man claims to be "Popeye the Chicken Man" after he's arrested for barnyard sex solicitation; calls himself "Batman" after he's found in ventilation shaft of Taco Bell; wears "Satan-in-Law" name tag at daughter's wedding.

Florida man tells tourists that he owns Mar-a-Lago; may actually own Mar-a-Lago; googles self to find out which Florida man he really is.

Florida man regrets the coconut pipe bomb in the mail box; regrets pissing on the cop car in the Seven Eleven parking lot; apologizes for pressure washing his neighbor.

Florida man wants to wants to quit being the permanent headline under Odd News; wants to stop feeling like an invasive species in his home state; wants to become as respectable as a retired Methodist Republican dentist in Winter Haven

Florida man weeps in his Bud Light and vows he'll lead a python posse;
bottle the Fountain of Youth; become as loved as a manatee munching eel grass under a glass-bottomed boat.

Maybe, it's the iguana in his plumbing. Maybe, it's the sinkhole under his house. Maybe, it's the "It's a Small World" earworm, but Florida man feels he's always bucking a Force 5 Happy Hour out there. Trouble keeps heading his way like a love bug looking for a windshield,

Sometimes, you've got to think outside of the box. Sometimes, a parrot, a blindfold and a Bic lighter are all that you've got to work with.